Description of scientific activity	I am a classical philologist and computer scientist. My academic interests focus primarily on the reception of mythology and ancient literature in new media; among other works, I am the author of the monograph Internet jako nowa przestrzeń recepcji literatury antycznej ("The Internet as a New Space for the Reception of Ancient Literature", Poznań 2017.) Since 2018, I have served as Deputy Editor-in-Chief of the journal "Literatura i Kultura popularna". For many years, I have participated in digital humanities projects within the DARIAH-PL programs; among other things, I coordinated the project (together with Adam Cankudis) E-Theseus Map – the creation of a digital tool for visualizing mythical space.
