Description of scientific activity

I conduct research on twentieth- and twenty-first-century Spanish literature, with a particular focus on contemporary prose, graphic narratives, translation, gender and cultural studies, and the sociology of literature. I am especially interested in women's writing, the relationship between literature and politics, and literary representations of emotions, economic crisis, urban space, and experiences of marginalization. I am the author of the monographs El malestar. La narrativa de mujeres en la España contemporánea (2010) and Współczesna proza hiszpańska. Studia (2016), and the editor of the volume Arcydzieła literatury hiszpańskiej (2016). In 2022, I spent a semester as a visiting professor at the University of Córdoba, Spain, and since 2023 I have been involved in the Horizon Europe project "Cartography of the Political Novel in Europe" (CAPONEU). I lead the international research group "Literatura y capitalismo en las culturas hispánicas". I offer doctoral supervision in Polish, Spanish, and English.
