

Doctoral School of Languages and Literatures Adam Mickiewicz University

Photograph
First and last name	Amán Rosales Rodríguez
Academic title and position	Prof. UAM dr hab., professor uczelni
Faculty, Institute, Department/Unit	Faculty of Modern Languages and Literature, Institute of Romance Studies, Department of Hispanic Studies
Scientific discipline	Literary Studies
Research areas	Hispanic American literature, Hispanic American essay, Hispanic American thought, cultural theory in the Latin American context, essay and subjectivity, cultural and social criticism in the Latin American context.
Description of scientific activity	I am associated professor of Hispanic American Literature at the Department of Hispanic Studies (Faculty of Modern Languages and Literatures), Adam Mickiewicz University, Poznań. I hold a postdoctoral degree in Hispanic American Literature from the UAM in Poznań. I also hold a Ph.D. in philosophy from the University of Dortmund (now TU Dortmund). In the field of teaching, my work focuses primarily on 1. 20th-century Hispanic American fiction (modernism, avant-garde, speculative fiction, regionalism), and 2. the tradition of the Hispanic American literary-philosophical essay in the 20th and 21st centuries. My research interests focus on the interrelationship between philosophical issues and literary creation. In my research, I draw particularly—though not exclusively—on the works of authors (writers, essayists, philosophers) writing in German, English, and Spanish.
e-mail address	arosales@amu.edu.pl
Website, academic profiles (e.g. ResearchGate, ORCID, Google Scholar, and others)	https://orcid.org/0000-0001-5533-2625
Activities aimed at improving doctoral supervision skills (e.g. training, workshops, and others)	