Scientific discipline	linguistics
Research areas	English syntax, generative grammar, comparative English-Polish syntax
Description of scientific activity	For over 36 years now I have been conducting research in the area of English and Polish syntax from the generative perspective. I am an author and co-author of about a hundred English-language publications. I have researched such areas of morpho-syntax as: interrogative constructions in English and Polish, reconstruction in interrogatives, distribution of personal pronouns, clausal negation, anaphoric and cataphoric relations and derivation and interpretation of infinitive clauses. I have supervised nine Ph.D.s thus far.
